

Service Learning Credit

At Achievement First Amistad High School (AF AHS), we believe in the power of service learning to both positively impact the community and develop positive leadership and character traits in our scholars. AF AHS requires students to complete 40 hours of service learning in order to graduate. These service learning hours may take many forms including, but not limited to:

- Independent service work at an approved community organization
- Service work with an Achievement First School (Only 15 hours of the service work with an AF school will go towards the 40).

In order to receive credit for service learning hours, scholars must complete and submit a service learning form that requires a supervisor's signature to the drop box in the cafeteria to receive credit. If you are unsure about whether work counts towards the service learning requirement, please contact Ebony West, the Student Services Manager of Culture at ebonywest@achievementfirst.org. All scholars are required to maintain a level of professionalism while volunteering. You are not permitted to bring a peer without prior authorization from the organization you are serving.
